

How corrupt is the justice system in the state of West Virginia?

Artist, activist, builder, Vietnam veteran, and former Green Beret captain — and leader of the pro-White National Alliance — William White Williams found out the answer to that question when he became the victim of a corporate coup attempt aided and abetted by that system. He found himself locked out of his own business, falsely arrested and accused of violent crimes, abandoned without food or money or proper clothing 279 miles from home, and forbidden to set foot on the headquarters where the coup plotters were busy hauling off valuable property and records. He was denied justice in the courts — and ultimately discovered that even his own counsel was working against him. He decided to fight back, and this is his story.

“The courts in West Virginia have long needed a purging, and this book, if widely read, could be the impetus for the radical housecleaning we need.” — Bradford Hanson

“Pocahontas Show Trial is a much-needed warning and portent for all freedom-loving Americans. If this politically motivated injustice can happen to Will Williams, it can happen to you too.” — National Vanguard

“This book should be required reading for every law student in this nation, as an object lesson in the kind of injustice we should all be striving to avoid. The Politically Correct corruption ruining West Virginia’s courts is rife everywhere. The censors will make this book hard to find, but find it you should, and tell everyone you know to read it, and every library in your area to carry it. Its lesson is that important.” — The American Mercury

WILLIAM WHITE WILLIAMS is a North Carolina native who has been a designer/builder and real estate developer, a painter of portraits in oils, a captain in the Green Berets, and a political activist. He is the current Chairman of the National Alliance, an educational organization devoted to the interests of White Americans and people of European descent worldwide. He and his wife Lana make their home in the Southern Appalachian Mountains of eastern Tennessee.

COSMOTHEIST BOOKS

BOX 4 • MOUNTAIN CITY • TN 37683
COSMOTHEISTCHURCH.ORG

WILLIAMS

POCAHONTAS SHOW TRIAL

POCAHONTAS SHOW TRIAL

The Wrongful Conviction of an “Unpopular Figure” in West Virginia

WILLIAM WHITE WILLIAMS